

Chaotic Times

Organised Chaos Newsletter

"Creating SPACE - Restoring ORDER"

Issue 70 - December 2014

Not festive - but useful!

Dear Friends of Organised Chaos

Welcome to the December edition of Chaotic Times!

If you've arrived at this point looking for festive cheer and tinsel, then you may well be disappointed. I've been producing these newsletters since 2009, and every month I aim to provide useful content, rather than empty words with nice pictures. I want to help you make a difference to your life.

However, if you'd really like help with your festive overload, then I have a PDF 'Get Organised for Christmas', which I can send you on request. Please call 01327 705294 or e-mail me.

Here's your token festive image. It has nothing to do with the content of this newsletter, though!

Now, wouldn't it be great to make really good use of your Christmas break rather than finishing off all the leftovers and eating far too many chocolates?

If you agree, then read on. If not, then take a look at this photo of a Christmas tree and gifts for a few minutes before making a cup of tea!

I thought it might be of help if we had a bit of a round up of topics we've covered during 2014. Highlights if you like.

So, with eleven issues to choose from which are the ones that stand out? Oh, decisions, decisions . . . .

My first choice is the February 2014 issue, 'Discover the Story of your Stuff'

This is for you if you feel you ought to do some decluttering, but every time you try, you get hijacked by your emotions. Once you have insight around these emotions it is much easier to act. Why not have a read and try some of my suggestions?

My second offering is April 2014 issue, 'Facing your own Mortality'

This newsletter was described by one of my subscribers as,

"a brave and excellent newsletter"

So, if you missed it, now's your chance to find out more. The title might be a tad off putting, but I would rather describe it as 'thought provoking'.

Let me know what you think.

Here's one for all those people I meet who tell me they are the epitome of tidiness and order. It's their family members who are the problem. That's a challenge, isn't it? This June 2014 newsletter is packed with suggestions on how to manage the cluttering habits of your resident loved ones.

Living with Untidy People

Clothing in excess can be a sensitive subject for a number of reasons. My July newsletter was aimed at those readers with bedrooms bursting at the seams. If this sounds like you, then maybe you should take a look if you missed it first time around.

Wardrobe Worries

See the next page for what I consider to be potentially the most life changing of my 2014 newsletters . . . .

Back to May for this unusual take on decluttering. Prepare to be surprised.

Discover why it's best not to "love" decluttering. Click the link to find out why - hopefully it will feel like a breath of fresh air . . . . .

So, this brings me to the end of what is probably the least 'christmasy' of newsletters you'll receive this month!

I hope you've found the reminders useful and thought provoking?

Do get in touch if you'd like more information on any of the subjects covered here, or indeed if you want to share your views on the newsletters generally. My contact details are below.

Finally, I would like to wish you a merry Christmas and a happy new year.

*Best regards,
Judith*

t: 01327 705294

e: organised@judithmorris.co.uk

w: www.judithmorris.co.uk

Why not follow Organised Chaos on Facebook?

Please note: descriptions of products in this newsletter cannot be guaranteed as accurate, nor are they an endorsement of quality. Please check thoroughly before making any purchase. Any problems encountered as a result of purchase are not the responsibility of Organised Chaos or Judith Morris.

Should you wish to unsubscribe from this newsletter please follow this link - www.judithmorris.co.uk/newsletters.php